

NO SILURIANS

ATTEND THE MEETING OF THE PROGRESSIVE CLUB.

A New Ferry Service and Lots of Street Improvements Discussed.

The loud call made in the GAZETTE last evening had the effect to bring out the largest attendance that has ever occurred since its organization. The number was not only the largest but enthusiastic according to its size. Four or five new names were added to the roll.

The effect of having street work done in the west end of town, through the efforts of the club, has demonstrated to the people the efficiency of the organization. Now that its work is becoming visible property owners are getting more interested.

After President Spear had called the meeting to order, the reading of the minutes was dispensed with on account of the unavoidable absence of Secretary Dickieson.

The first matter called up for discussion was that of street improvements. As the ice had been broken by having some of the bridges repaired and work on others to be advertised for, the idea of improving this portion of the town by making the highways better and of easier travel, seems to meet the views of a large majority of the club. The next thing the question came up "which was the most feasible way to arrive at it?" After an hour or so's discussion the opinion prevailed that the bond system would suit the property owners best from the fact that just now money was quite scarce and any large amount of street improvements might prove embarrassing in a financial way. By the bond system ten years time would be allowed to make payments in and this would make it easier for all concerned. With this idea in view it was thought best to go on with improvements as fast as possible before the rainy season should set in.

The next subject which came up for consideration was in regard to the establishment of a ferry between Berkeley and San Francisco. A statement was made by one of the members that for the purpose of getting a recently invented engine for marine purposes in actual use, so as to demonstrate its capacity, a large manufacturing concern would subscribe very liberally towards the fund for the establishment of a ferry, and that probably about $10,000 could be obtained in San Francisco, in addition to the Company's offer. It is proposed to place on the line a small but fast passenger steamer that would make quicker time than can be done at present by rail.

Mr. George Schmidt then said if a boat of this kind should be placed on the route that the electric road would be immediately completed, and thus give East Berkeley people another route to the city, which they would gladly avail themselves of if good time could be made on the trips.

At the next meeting of the Club more definite knowledge will be obtained, and then the President will appoint a special committee to act with the parties who propose to subscribe so liberally to the new ferry.

After the meeting had adjourned there was an informal conversation during which the workers in the Club expressed themselves as being pleased that the property owners of the west end are getting aroused from a protracted lethargy, and with all hands working together West Berkeley would soon wheel into the line of progression where it properly belongs.

On Saturday afternoon there will be an organ recital at the First Congregational church at San Francisco, thus giving Californians another opportunity to hear Professor William C. Karl of New York. Mr. James Paine of Berkeley has charge of keeping this organ in good condition for Mr. Samuel Mayer, the organist of this church, to play upon.

Rebecca M. Ford of Oakland has taken out a patent for a car coupling and Alice Stewart of San Francisco has taken out a patent for a steam cooking apparatus.

The Question Solved.

On Saturday afternoon last no less than half a dozen people were engaged in figuring out how much a bicycle agent received for a wheel which he raffles off at from one cent to $1.50 per chance, there being 150 chances. No two answers came out alike, consequently the GAZETTE will give the true solution here.

The cyclery man goes among would-be bicyclists with 150 little, round articles that look like cartridge wads. On each of these is stamped a number, thus representing all the numbers from 1 to 150. The purchaser draws a button and pays as many cents as the number stamped thereon calls for. Thus if he draws number 25 he pays 25 cents for it; if he draws number 150 he pays $1.50 for it and so on. After all the buttons are sold an equal number of cards, on which the same numbers are stamped, are shaken up in a hat. Some one draws one of these and the holder of the corresponding button marked with the same number, takes the bicycle.

This it will be seen is a double lottery. You may purchase a chance for a very small sum, as low as one cent, and that chance may bring you an $85 bicycle. Readers of the GAZETTE are doubtless sufficiently versed in simple mathematics that we were taught years ago, to figure out readily the little sum in arithmetical progression this ingenious scheme presents and thus learn how much the agent gets for his wheel.

The number of terms in this progression is 150. Add the first and last and you have 151; multiply by 150 the number of terms, and divide the product by 2. The quotient is 11325, which, reduced to dollars, makes $113.25, the price that the bicycle sells for.

Tom Reed of Maine.

The Edward Walsh Garrison No. 95, R. A. N. U., of Vallejo, has had a gavel and block made from timber that came out of the Hartford, to be presented to Tom Reed of Maine when he is again elected speaker of the U. S. House of Representatives. Hon. S. G. Hilborn, Congressman-elect from this district, will make the presentation when the proper time comes. Around the block on the outer rim is the lettering, "Tom Reed of Maine" and "Hartford." A silver plate is attached to the bottom of the block, on which is engraved "Presented by Edward Walsh Garrison No. 95, R. A. N. U., Vallejo, Cal."

Real Estate Transfers.

Patrick and Maggie J. Cahill to Frank H. and Rosa Richards, the south 45 feet of lot 12, block 2, Antislip's map of villa lots.

Mary E. Summers to Nellie F. Hamilton (wife of James) lot 19, block 83, property of Captain Bowen.

Simeon F. and Flora A. Morrill to Mary E. Snider, lot on NW corner of Channing way and Shattuck avenue 50x105 and 110.

Crane Company (a corporation) to R. N. Wood, lot 19, block G, Bryant tract.

Wants Money.

J. P. Garlic, superintendent of the public schools of Alameda county, reports that by his computation there is required $212,268.80 for the school fund for the ensuing year. He says a less sum than this will not be sufficient because at the present time the funds of many of the districts are exhausted and the teachers must wait until December or January before they will be able to the cash the orders now in their hands. This is notably true of Oakland, Berkeley, Bay, Temescal, Lockwood and a number of smaller districts.

THE ECLIPSE A TOTAL FAILURE IN BERKELEY.

Skull and Crossbones' Challenge to the Sophmores Makes Them Mad.

The grand terrestrial show advertised to take place last evening, came off all right in the interior of the State and at the Lick Observatory but it was a huge humbug in this section.

All day long people both old and young kept looking towards the Golden Gate to see whether the fog was going to come in and stop the show, and at about 4 o'clock their fears were realized for it came in in banks, and by night the heavens were as dark as the hair on a black cat.

This being the case the people groped about hoping for the best and thinking that the fog might roll by and the man in the moon would be able to give his show as advertised.

No such good fortune favored them, however, and those who had tramped up to Grizzly Peak in order to get a good view had to tramp back again.

In other parts of the State the show came off on time and was given according to advertisement.

The Rush.

All arrangements have been made for the annual rush between the Freshmen and the Sophmores, which takes place this evening, and as there are about 700 students to take part, of which half are Sophmores and half Freshmen there is a great deal of interest being taken in the matter and even bets are being taken that the Sophmores will be declared the winners, something before unheard of.

For several days the members of both classes have been scouring the town for ropes, clotheslines, straps, handcuffs, etc., with which to tie each other up tonight, and they are being ably assisted by the co-eds of each class.

The Sophmores met yesterday afternoon and received the challenge of the Freshmen, which was embellished with skulls and crossbones. The challenge was accepted unanimously and the battle will be on at 8 o'clock this evening.

The Seniors will direct the attack on the part of the Sophmores and the Juniors will look out for the Freshmen.

The leaders of both classes were summoned before President Kellogg this morning and they were admonished to have their men use no violence, but notwithstanding this it will be a battle royal and to a finish.

The Freshmen will report at the Acheson Hotel, where runners will inform them where to meet.

The Sophmores will meet on Telegraph avenue and Channing way and both parties are expected to reach the campus about 8 o'clock.

There will be hundreds of people from Oakland and San Francisco to see the rush.

GAZETTELETS.

There will be prayer meetings held tonight as usual in the different churches of town.

The W. C. T. U. held their regular meeting this afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Smith on Virginia street.

The steamer Hope brought over twenty-seven head of cattle yesterday for McClellan & Gushee of Steges station.

The Acme and Reliance Clubs of Oakland will pay a visit this evening to the Crescent Club of Berkeley, when an informal reception will be given them.

A farewell meeting will be held in Trinity Methodist church this evening in honor of Rev. J. C. Davis, the founder of the Methodist Missions in Japan.

The Oakland High School is making arrangements to send an athletic team East in June next. The high school will hold its regular field day on the U. C. cinder track on the 28th instant.

The University of California Bicycle Club has elected officers as follows for the coming year: Cross, '96, president; Sweet, '98, vice-president; Newman, '98, secretary and treasurer; Baer, '98, captain. The club will invite the "co-eds" to form an annex.

On Friday evening next there will be a grand organ recital in the First Congregational Church at San Francisco. Mr. William C. Karl of New York will officiate at the organ. There is no doubt but the playing will be of more than usual excellence and that it will be largely attended.

Work on the tunnel for water at Wildcat canyon continues and now there is a fine steady stream of cool, clear mountain water constantly running into the new reservoir. Every foot of extension of the tunnel increases the water supply.

The Durrant trial was opened today. Yesterday the jury, counsel and prisoner paid an official visit to the Emmanuel Church. The first witness to give testimony was Dr. Barrett, who made the autopsy on the body of the murdered girl.

The government in its financial exhibit shows for the fiscal year that the expenditures exceed the receipts over $13,000,000. In the internal revenue a decrease of $27,000,000 is put down. President Cleveland still continues to have a good time at Buzzard's Bay and sign himself as President of the United States.

Charles R. Simms, who was train dispatcher at the Oakland mole some months ago, at which time three lives were lost in the Altamont tunnel, has gone back to the telegraphing business. His new place of business will be at Tacoma, where he will not have the handling of any cars.

Last evening the Epworth League of the West Berkeley Methodist church elected the following officers to serve during the ensuing year: President, Mr. T. Turner; first vice-president, Miss Kathleen Brown; second vice-president, Miss Kate Underwood; third vice-president, Mr. Eben Body; fourth vice-president, Miss Annie Sarge; secretary, Mr. F. Heywood; treasurer, Mr. Maynard Harms.

About three weeks ago Theodore Frank, the proprietor of a shoe store in Oakland, and his clerk, Richard Woods, were arrested for pouring kerosene upon a cage full of rats, and then setting them on fire. Since that time business has been so bad with Frank that he has been compelled to go out of business. His clerk has been grieved so unmercifully that on Friday night last he attempted to commit suicide. He is only about 20 years of age and was to have been married very shortly.

ALMOST DOUBLED

IS THE PRODUCTION OF THE STANDARD WORKS

During the Past Eight Months, Over What It Was For All of 1894.

Some idea of the comparative volume of business in last year and this in the manufacture of soaps at least, will be vividly obtained from the following statement furnished us by the Standard Soap Company:

During the whole of 1894 the total amount of materials received at the factory in Berkeley, and of finished products shipped from it, aggregated 5354 tons, of which large amount five-eighths was material entering factory and three-eighths product sent out, toilet soap and fancy articles comprising about one-fifth of this. However, in the eight months so far passed of this year, the similar gross amount has been over 9400 tons, or an increase of nearly 100 per cent. The number of employees averages about fifty people, although often running far above that. They have their own printing office, with four large steam-power presses, besides many smaller ones, etc. To facilitate shipments this company runs its own steamer, the 300-ton side-wheeler Mare Island, with a full crew of men. The business of the company covers the whole Pacific Coast, from Alaska to Central America, and reaches into the interior as far as Wyoming, Colorado and Texas, and is constantly growing.—S. F. Journal of Commerce.

TOWN OFFICIAL PAPER.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 4, 1895

HIGH TAXES.

It is announced that the State taxes will amount to 68 cents which is higher than they have been for years, and coming at this time after a series of hard times and poor crops, it will come very hard upon the poor people of the State, and especially the farmers whose all is being taken by the Railroad Company for freights.

The Republican platform pledged the party to stay within 59 cents while the Democrats pledged themselves to keep the levy below 45 cents. Neither one of them have kept their pledges. The last Legislature was a Republican Legislature and a most extravagant one, yet it could not have passed many of the extravagant bills that were introduced there unless it had received the votes of the Democratic members. In refutation of this it might be said that the Governor was Democratic and he could have used his veto power and thereby kept the limit to at least 50 cents.

The Governor did use his veto power to a great extent, but he had to call a halt on the veto question or cripple the State. The great trouble was that a part of the deficiency was caused by a former Legislature which foisted the coyote bounty upon the State and upon the last Legislature which spent the people's money like water in keeping up an army of useless attaches at Sacramento. The blame for the high rate of taxation this year rests upon the Board of Equalization and the last Republican Legislature.

The Board of Equalization is blamed for not putting the proper taxes upon the Railroad Companies. Had they taxed the Railroad Company equally with the individuals, there would have been plenty of money upon which to run the government at even a 45 cent levy.

The Republican members of the Legislature will have to do some pretty tall explaining to their constituents before they can be returned to Sacramento two years from now.

The people are getting tired of party pledges and individual pledges from politicians who want to hold office, and will believe in them no more unless there be some law enacted whereby the individual who breaks his pledge may be punished. In the meantime the people have no redress and will have to pay the exorbitant taxes or have their property confiscated.

THE SEDAN CELEBRATION.

Unless the German Emperor is fully prepared for war and has made the necessary arrangements not only for an international struggle, but for a contest with the discontented element in Germany itself, he has made some very foolish and ill-advised remarks. It is true that he ostensibly put himself in the background and glorified his grandfather, William I, but that can deceive no one who has even a cursory or desultory knowledge of European politics. What he said was, in effect: "I will maintain the autocracy which my grandfather established; I will make Germany the dominant power in the affairs of Continental Europe, and I will crush socialism and democracy by my imperial and kingly power and with the army which I control."

That this is the meaning of the Emperor's speech is obvious. He declared that a rabble unworthy to bear the name of Germans has dared to revile the German people and has dared to drag in the dust the person of the universally honored Emperor. This refers, no doubt, to the threatened demonstration against the unveiling of the statue to William I, when everybody but a chosen few were excluded. The London Globe expresses the odinion editorially that the German celebrations have endangered the peace of Europe. The tone of the Berlin papers, says the Globe, has been offensive and such as to wound needlessly the feelings of the French, and the Emperor has allowed himself to use language which is at least capable of being misunderstood. All this is true, no doubt, but it does not follow that either war or revolution will supervene. France has found prosperity and progress in peace, and the German Socialists are not ready for the proclamation of a German republic. The words of the Emperor, however, will not be forgotten, and some day they may come back to him in a way that will surprise him. The least that can be said is that the Sedan celebration was not a kindly thing and that the Emperor's speech was a display of turgid rhetoric and very bad judgment.—S. F. Chronicle.

THE DURRANT CASE.

The Durrant murder trial was fairly started yesterday in Judge Murphy's Court room in San Francisco. District Attorney Barnes addressed the Jury and outlined the case and showed what he expects to prove.

If he can prove one-half of what he expects to, Durrants time on the earth is very short, and he will soon occupy the cell that Fredericks frescoed at San Quentin, and which he left for the gallows.

The Judge, Jury, Court officers and Durrant were taken to the Emmanuel Baptist Church yesterday where they viewed the church, the library where Minnie Williams was murdered, and the belfry where Blanche Lamont's body was found. Durrant, when taken over the scenes of crime which he is alleged to have committed, was not one bit affected but on the contrary seemed pleased to visit the church once more, and nodded and smiled pleasantly to his friends.

If Durrant is guilty he is one of the best actors this country has ever produced, and if he is innocent he is a man of iron nerve, for no man who is innocent and who stands charged with such a terrible crime, could fail to show that it worried him. Durrant, on the contrary, is a regular shipin' and his face never betrays him.
